MEMPHREMAGOG
GRANGE HOLDS
ANNUAL FAIR

Richest Products of the Harvest On Exhibition at Newport

The Fourth annual fair and food sale of the Memphremagog Grange No. 424 was held at the Odd Fellows' Hall, Newport, Wednesday afternoon and evening. All the richest products of the harvest were on exhibition, together with a varied assortment of cakes, cookies, and candies delicious enough to satisfy the sweetest tooth.

A feature of the fair was the exhibition of the Memphremagog Willing Workers, composed of girls, whose samples of canned vegetables, and fruits, and needlecraft were previously shown at the Eastern States Exposition at Springfield, Mass. Here in competition with work from 10 other states, the exhibition of the Green Mountain girls stood high in comparison. Three girls whose work was the cause of their dividing among themselves an equal number of prizes were Doris Lorimer, Helen Hine, and Alva Lodge. All of them attended the Eastern States Exposition.

The judges on vegetables were: L. E. Kay, Z. B. Bowley, and H. H. Bowley; on canned goods: Miss Beulah Jones, and Mrs. Arthur D. Flinders; on fancy work: Mrs. Z. B. Bowley and Mrs. David Bean.

The prizes awarded for canned goods were as follows:

Strawberries, Mrs. A. T. Lorimer; olives, Mrs. W. H. Buck; cranberries, Mayor Gardner; blackberries, Mrs. W. H. Buck; beans, Mrs. C. W. Richmond; sweet pickles, Mrs. C. W. Richmond; beet pickles, Mrs. W. H. Buck; beans, Mrs. A. T. Lorimer; corn, Mrs. C. W. Richmond; mince-meat, Mrs. W. H. Buck; corn, Mrs. A. T. Lorimer; beans, Mrs. W. H. Buck.

The prizes awarded for vegetables were as follows:

Potatoes, 1st, G. F. Lodge; 2nd, A. R. Wells; 3rd, A. R. Wells. Beans, 1st, Mrs. N. H. Wilson; 2nd, R. Farant; 3rd, G. F. Lodge; pumpkins, C. W. Richmond; summer squash, 1st, Dwight Soules; 2nd, D. AIRPLANE TO
OF ELECTION

Caledonian-Record Airplane to Circle Over Towns of Three Counties

Preparations, more elaborate than ever before attempted, are being perfected by the Caledonian-Record to give the people of Northeastern Vermont the latest and most complete returns of the presidential election which will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 2. The biggest single feature on the extensive program of information now under way is the use of the Curtis type airplane, owned by the Charlie and Charlie Aviation Company and operated by Lieut. Paul Robinson of Pittsfield, Mass., and New York City. This plane, which has made its headquarters in St. Johnsbury for nearly two weeks, has been donated to the management of the Caledonian-Record and will be in the service of this newspaper all of the morning of Wednesday, November 3, carrying the news of the election to many of the cities and towns in this section of the state. In fact, Lieut. Robinson is to act in the capacity of a modern "Paul Revere" and carry to the people of Vermont the returns of the greatest political contest of years to decide who shall be at the helm of our national government during the next four years.

It has always been the policy of the Caledonian-Record so far as possible, to give its subscribers the news FIRST and ACCURATE and in the presidential election the management feels that it should not only maintain its past enviable record but should go a step further and in an unusual and unique manner head off the final result of the big election. We are indeed fortunate in being able to have the services of Aviator Robinson, whose efficiency in flying should enable him to make the trip over Caledonia, Orleans, and Essex counties by the time the late afternoon sets in. In any event, the people are certain to learn the result of the election hours earlier than they will from any other source.

Underneath Lieut. Robinson's machine will be a black circle if Gov. Cox succeeds in winning the election while a large red circle will be painted there provided Senator Warren G. Harding is the choice of the people. The color scheme is best suited to the eye and carries no political significance.

The plane will fly as low as is practicable so that every watcher will be able to discern the sign. After

Plans Complete for
Aerial Exhibition

Everything is all primed for the big aerial exhibition to be given by Lieut. Paul Robinson of Pittsfield, Mass., over St. Johnsbury in celebration of "Merchants' Day" Friday and it is expected that hundreds of people from surrounding towns will attend. The exhibition will take place between 3 and 4 o'clock. The exhibition will not, as previously announced, take place over the Grand Falls, but will be directly over the business section.

S. D. Tufts, newly appointed advance agent of the Charlie and Charlie Company, operating the airplane, wishes to announce that he will be in Lyndonville Friday and Saturday to book flights for Lyndonville people and arrange a "Merchants' Day" there.

BALLOT ON SETTLEMENT

LONDON, Oct. 28.—The strike of coal miners throughout England and Wales was settled this afternoon but the settlement is contingent upon a ballot of the miners. Frank A. The executives are recommending their adoption as a temporary measure until a national wage board is established."

DEMOCRATS
FILL ARMORY
AT LIVELY RALLY

Prominent Speakers Make Earnest Appeal for Votes at Tuesday's Election

With the church bells ringing for mid-week services, the theatres aglow with attractive entertainments and the first rain storm in many weeks the local democratic managers did well to assemble as big a crowd as they did for their rally at the Armory Wednesday evening.

It shows that the voters are thoroughly alive to the importance of the issues to be decided at next Tuesday's election and want to hear them discussed from the angle of both political parties.

Edward G. Asselin of the democratic town committee, presided, the woman member of the committee, who had been asked to preside, having failed to materialize. Mr. Asselin is one of the democratic candidates for county senator and the only one from St. Johnsbury.

The other speakers were Samuel E. Richardson, candidate for state's attorney; Fred C. Martin of Bennington, candidate for governor; Harry W. Witters, candidate for congress; and Thomas F. Browne of Rutland, candidate for no office, but one of the veteran democratic orators of Vermont.

Mr. Richardson said he was a real candidate and not an excess-burden candidate for the office in any sense of the word. He believed that the office of State's Attorney had an important bearing upon the political, social and economic life of the community. He believed the laws should be impartially enforced, all complaints thoroughly investigated, and in this he should cooperate heartily with the other local officers as well as those of the state. He believed that a longer tenure of office than one or two terms had a tendency to neglect the public's business for private matters. Mr. Richardson said that, if elected, he would endeavor to see that the laws are enforced, and serious offenses fully, not half punished. "If you think," said the speaker in closing, "that my idea of the matter is correct, I shall very much appreciate your vote next Tuesday."

Mr. Martin said: "I am a native of Vermont, have always lived here and my only ambition in this whole matter is to bring about better things for my native state." He congratulated the women on the prospect of their first vote and believed it promised better things politically. Vermont, he said, is a wonderful state and ought to be made and advertised to be the picture garden of the world. He believed that more summer tourists and more hotels to accommodate them would bring a quicker return in profits to the inhabitants than any industrial program which he regarded as nothing but visionary.

Among the things Mr. Martin said he believed in and pledged himself to support was a law limiting campaign expenses; waterpower development to help Vermont; governor to devote

OFFICERS MAKE
BIG LIQUOR SEIZURE
AT DERBY LINE

Two New Hampshire Men Held for United States Court

Through their failure to successfully carry out apparently well laid plans to smuggle more than 100 quarts of liquor, including a varying quantity of choice whiskey, wine, dry gin and cognac which would quench the thirst of the most fastidious, from Canada into the United States, G. L. Couture and Omar Desrochers of Manchester, N. H., have lost a $7000 Cadillac Sedan, were forced to furnish $500 bail each when arraigned before United States Commissioner Harry Blodgett at St. Johnsbury and must appear before the United States Court at Rutland when it convenes again to face the serious charge of illegally transporting liquor across the border.

H. A. Rice, collector in charge of the U. S. Customs station at Derby Line, was the obstacle in the path of New Hampshire men and they owe their misfortune to him as well as to their lack of precaution in connection with transferring of the liquor on this side of the border. The two men, accompanied by their wives, had made the trip into the land of the Maple Leaf an ill-fated supply of the prohibited beverage, which if sold, down country, would have netted them a handsome profit. Instead of selecting a secluded spot the men picked out one of the main highways to discharge their "wet goods" from the Sedan to two touring cars, which were waiting for them.

Just about half of the load had been transferred when along came Inspector Rice, en route to his home for supper. When he saw that the lights were out on the touring cars he decided there must be "something doing." So without losing any time, Officer Rice hustled over the scene and immediately took charge of the situation. However, before he could reach the spot, the touring cars had succeeded in making a clean getaway, but the occupants of the Cadillac were ordered to drive to the customs office. The machine was confiscated and the liquor was stored away after a complete list of the roads had been taken for reference. In the absence of U. S. Commissioner Walter H. Clary of Newport, who is attending court at Guilford, the party was brought to St. Johnsbury

The Store that Undersells

Charges Its Editor With Unfair
Partisanship On Eve of Election

(By The Associated Press)

DAYTON, Ohio, Oct. 28.—Another statement charging the Saturday Evening Post and its editor, George Lorimer, with unfair partisanship was issued today by

The statement says: "When early in the week I called attention to the gorilla tactics of the Saturday Evening Post on the basis of its last minute attack on me, the response of Mr. Lorimer, its editor, was that my action was unethical. I am perfectly willing to submit that question to the voters of America. The question of ethics is what America has learned to look upon as a square deal and when a not-partisan journal becomes partisan in its very issue four days before an election at a time when it is impossible for mis-statements to be corrected, or to be met, it would seem to indicate a very deep-seated, selfish interest, based upon some purpose which could scarcely be called straight-forward and honest."

"In my statement I charged ulterior interest since Mr. Lorimer has seen fit to reply simply in a way that raises the question of ethics I would like to direct to him the plain question, 'Is his interest in this election which brings the unusual act of partisan support from his paper based upon the desire of a return to normality under which his publication sought to prosper by unfair methods?'

Is it because the Curtis Publishing Company was found guilty of the use of unfair and illegal methods of competition and violation of the anti-trust law prohibiting use of certain contracts in violation of the federal trade commission ruling? Proof of these unlawful practices was found by the Federal Trade Commission after extensive hearings on July 21st, 1919, and the Curtis Publishing Co. was forced to stop and desist in them. Every unfair business in America is therefore against me because I do not stand for the return to the old order under which the strong prospered at the expense of the weak and under which big business grew bigger while small businesses were forced out of existence."
